1040, REORIENTED

"Grocers in Bangkok are packing customers' rice and spices in paper bags made from American income-tax forms purchased from the General Services Administration. We applaud this enterprise on the part of G.S.A. But we sympathize with the Asian householders who are suddenly confronted with the forbidding array of questions Americans have to answer each April. Perhaps the bags are a subtle form of propaganda by their own Government that the grass at home is greener after all."
